DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The subject matter of this application necessitates illustration by a drawing to facilitate understanding of the invention. Applicant is required to furnish a drawing under 37 CFR 1.81(c). No new matter may be introduced in the required drawing. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is not clear what portion of the cylinder is heated. Applicant claims that portion to be a recessed flat, a straight groove or an annular groove. It is not clear how a groove is heated to melt.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3726

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claim 7, as best understood by the examiner, is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Slater et al. (US 2002/0172471A1).

Slater et al. discloses a finished sleeve made of stainless steel having a tolerance of a micron or so, see paragraphs, 3, 4 and 19. Applicant should note that “even though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of the product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process.” In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985). See MPEP § 2113.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1, 2 and 4-6, as best understood by the examiner, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Slater et al. in view of Keller et al. (US Patent 4,761,191).

Art Unit: 3726

With regards to claim 1, Slater et al. discloses a finished sleeve made of stainless steel having a tolerance of a micron or so, see paragraphs, 3, 4 and 19. Although Slater et al. does not disclose how the sleeve is made, however it is known to form precision sized openings in hardened steel workpieces by drilling nominal size openings in the workpieces, press-fitting sizing plugs formed from a material having a strength greater than that of the steel body during a predetermined range of temperatures in the openings, heat treating the body and removing the plugs thereby resulting in openings with a size that is uniform within desired tolerance ranges, see column 12, lines 3-30. Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, to have manufactured the sleeve of Slater et al. in the manner taught by Keller et al., in order to produce precision sized openings within desired tolerance ranges. Applicant should note that it is within the general knowledge of one of ordinary skill in the art to use the proper implement to heat the workpiece.

For claim 2, see column 4, lines 34-38 of Keller et al.

For claims 4-6, Applicant should note that it is within the general knowledge of one of ordinary skill in the art to heat the appropriate portion of the sleeve with the desired design.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claim 3 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
